ROTATIONEN BEGYNDT

FORKOMMANDOET ANKOMMET

Onsdag morgen ank om DANCON VI's forkommando med chefen for det nye kontingent, oberstløjtnant J.J. Ladegaard-Mikkelsen. I styrken indgik desuden en del nøglepersonel, 40 mand til stabskompagniet og 19 mand til militærpolitikkommandoet. Samme dag satte flyet fra Sterling Airways kursen nordover lastet med 92 mand, der skulle paa rotationsorlov.

Fredag den 16. November kommer orlovsfolkene tilbage, og et nyt orlovsfly gaar samme dag mod Danmark med 91 mand. Dagen efter ankommer første hold af den nyestyrke, hovedsagelig folk til stabskompagniet og til C-kompagniet, og senere paa dagen vender flyet hjemad med orlovsfolk og folk der skal afgaa fra FN-tjeneste. Den 18. November udskiftes 90 mand fra A, B og C-kompagniet.

Efter nogle dages pause fortsætter udskiftningen den 23. November hvor 90 mand kommer tilbage fra rotationsorlov og 88 mand afgaar fra stabskompagniet, Louroujina og C-kompagniet. Næste dag ankommer de sidste orlovsfolk og nogle timer senere forlader det sidste DANCON V personel Cypern.

Fredag den 25. November flyves sidste tur. Det er et rent bagagefly.

ZONCHEFEN INSPEKTERAR

Tisdagen den 1 november gjorde den nye chefen for Famagusta zon, överste Bertil Stjernfelt, en inspektionstur med helikopter till de olika posteringarna inom zonen. En av de platser som speciellt tilldrog sig hans intresse var byn Arsos, där som bekant förhållandet mellan turkar och greker varit mycket spånt alltsedan oroligheterna i början av september, då två personer dödades.

FN-svenskar paa Cypern - broelopp

De cypriotiska bröllopsceremonierna är helt annorlunda än de svenska, och det är alltid ett bland FN-soldater uppskattat nöje att delta i cypriotiska bröllopsfester när tillfälle ges. Det är heller inga svårigheter för en svensk FN-soldat att bli inbjuden till ett bröllop. Det räcker med den minsta lilla antydning om att man är intresserad och man blir bums inviterad. Det är inte bara gästfrihet bakom denna beredvillighet, det är också en fråga om pengar. FN-soldaten är känd för att ha gott om den varan, och brudens föräldrar räknar givetvis med att den inbjudne FN-soldaten besvarar vänligheten med en någorlunda frikostig penninggåva.

Den här bilden visar det högtidliga ögonblick då penninggåvorna placeras på den färdigbäddade brudsängen. Bataljonsläkaren Dag Höglund ökar på den redan försvarliga sedelbunt. Bakom honom väntar serg Sven Danielsson och civpol Anders Lind på sin tur ivrigt bevakade av byns alla kvinnor. Bilden tagen vid ett bröllop i Gypsos söndagen den 30 oktober.

SVENSK RADIOREPORTER BESOEKER BATALJON 36

Sveriges Radio-TV gör med jämna mellanrum program från de svenska FN-bataljonerna. Förra bataljonen besöktes av två svenska TV-team som spelade in var sitt program-det ena för skolradion, det andra för underhållningsavdelningen. Det senare programmet skildrade den svenska underhål-lingstruppens verksamhet under ett par heta augustiveckor här på Cypern.

Nu är det snart dags för nya inspelningar-denna gång för ångradions räkning. Den 16 november kommer radioreportern Fritjof Haglund till Cypern. Han skall under en vecka följa bataljonens ar-bete och sedan med bandspelarens hjälp skildra den svenske cypersoldatens tjänst och fritid för hemmapubliken. Förmodligen kommer också vi här på Cypern få möjlighet att höra programmen via bandkopier.

GENERAL MARTOLA VISITS RED CROSS CHILDRENS' HOME AT KYRENIA

Last week, the Force Commander, Major General and Mrs. Martola visited the Kyrenia Sick Children's Home. General Martola is President of the Finnish Red Cross which in the past has made contributions in the way of clothing and other gifts to the Home.

General and Mrs. Martola were accompanied by Mrs. Waiman-Wood, wife of the Canadian High Commissioner, who is a member of the Nicosia Committee of the Red Cross and they were met by Mr. P. Christodoulou, Director of the Cyprus Red Cross and the Matron Miss Cholmondeley. After meeting the thirty-one children at the Home, the General was shown over the Home by the Matron. He expressed his admiration for the bright and cheerful efficiency of the home and the obviously happy atmosphere which prevails among the children.

U THANT'S APPOINTMENT EXTENDED

UNANIMOUS ASSEMBLY DECISION

THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, on the recommendation of the Security Council last week voted unanimously to extend the appointment of U Thant as Secretary-General until the end of the twenty-first regular session of the Assembly. The Assembly acted by adopting, in a secret ballot, a draft resolution submitted by the ten non-permanent members of the Security Council: Argentina, Bulgaria, Japan, Jordan, Mali, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nigeria, Uganda and Uruguay.

U Thant's previous term of office was to expire on 3 November 1966.

The Council had previously adopted a resolution recalling U Thant's statement on 19 September that he was ready to consider serving until the end of the pre-PAZHWAQ: 'Hope for a decision the entire Organization will welcome'.

ASSEMBLY ENDORSES NUCLEAR RESOLUTION

THE UNITED NATIONS GENERAL ASSEMBLY last week endorsed a resolution—approved by an overwhelming majority in its Main Political Committee—asking all States to do nothing that might hamper the prompt conclusion of an anti-nuclear proliferation treaty.

The vote in the Committee was 110 in favour, one against and one abstention. Albania cast the only negative vote, and the abstention was registered by Cuba.

Speaking for Albania, Ambassador Halim Budo, denounced the move as an attempt to sustain the Soviet-US monopoly of overwhelming nuclear power and hailed Peking's nuclear build-up. Cuba said that she could not accept any limitations on possible defence measures in face of what she declared was the threat of the United States.

In its preamble, the resolution says that proliferation of nuclear weapons would endanger all nations and notes that negotiations are at present under way on a treaty. Private discussions between the Soviet Union and the United States were recently started in what both parties have since described as an encouraging manner.

The resolution reaffirmed principles laid down last year by the Assembly for an anti-proliferation treaty. These are:

- There should be no loopholes;
- There must be balanced responsibilities assumed by nuclear and non-nuclear States;
- The Treaty should be a step towards nuclear and general disarmament;
- It must have provisions to ensure effective application;
- It should not interfere with regional denuclearization projects.

This week's resolution sprang from a Soviet move directed at avoiding any action which might jeopardize a treaty, with the USSR emphasizing that this meant, in particular, not allowing West Germany to gain access to sent session of the Assembly, and recommending that the Assembly, pending further consideration of this question by the Council, extend his appointment until the end of the session.

The President of the Assembly, Abdul Rahman Pazhwak of Afghanistan, in formally informing the Secretary-General of the extension of his appointment, said there was "an obvious determination on the part of the entire membership that the Secretary-General of the United Nations must be enabled to function in his high office in the most effective manner possible".

He expressed hope that, before this session ended, the Secretary-General would have reached a decision which the entire Organization would be able to welcome.

FORCE COMMANDER VISITS XEROS

MAIN THE LEFKA DISTRICTS WEEK was the visit of the Commander to the HQ 7th Infantry Group at Xeros which took place on Thursday last. General Martola arrived by helicopter and was met by the Group Commander, Lt-Col M. K.

Hanley. He first inspected a Guard of Honour under the Command of Lt. F. G. McKeivitt. Biliary honours were rendered, the Salute being played by bugler Pte Eddie Burke, while during the inspection of the guard the unit band under Sgt P. Tobin played a selection of suitable airs.

The Force Commander then inspected the camp taking a lively interest in the camp improvements and winterisation plans which are at present under way. He also chatted with a number of the other ranks of the group whom he met on this itinerary.

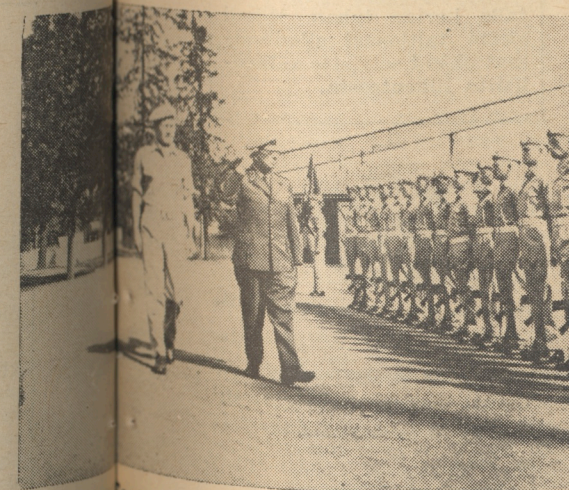

The General next attended a short briefing on the work of the Group given by the Operations Officer Capt J. B. Egan, the Intelligence Officer Capt A. Hume, the Engineer Officer Comdt M. Ryan and the Medical Officer Comdt H. O'Shea. He was then introduced to the officers of Group Headquarters and to the Company Commanders who had come in from their respective outposts camps for the occasion.

After lunch in the Officers' Mess Lt-Col Hanley made a short speech in which he said how proud he was, in representing his unit, to entertain such a distinguished guest not only because of his celebrated war record as a soldier but also because of his eminent work with the United Nations. He presented the General with a Waterford cut glass vase as a memento of the occasion.

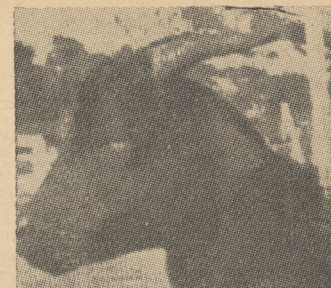

In replying, the Force Commander said he was glad to be among the Irish. He compared Ireland with Finland and said both countries had always shown a great patriotism and love of justice and liberty and he was sure they would be guided by these principles in their work for the United Nations.

NEW HOME AND A NEW

RECENTLY, HAROLD, THE GOAT mascot of the Signals Platoon of the Royal Welch Fusiliers, was offered for sale. Harold or Lester P. as he is now known is safely ensconced in the lap of luxury at HQ FINCON and appears to be under joint Finnish-Canadian ownership, hence the new name!

Rumour has it that LP is destined for bigger things and he may eventually become a real live military mascot with fancy trappings, badges, in fact the lot. More of LP when that day comes, provided he doesn't succumb to his diet of batteries and cigarettes first.

Proceeds of the sale have been sent to the Aberfan relief fund.

ROAD SAFETY AND YOU

Here are the three final hints in this present series on road safety.

1. Ensure your wheel nuts are tight.
2. Do NOT smoke while driving.
3. Keep both hands on the wheel.

These tips should have been useful to you, if only as a reminder. Many of them are common knowledge, but do YOU always apply them and drive carefully? Try to remember and think while you drive, then you won't be an accident about to happen.

' AND ON THE SPORTING SIDE OF GROUP LIFE...

● "B" Coy have recently laid out a new football pitch on the beach at Kato Pyrgos. In the inaugural game the other ranks defeated the officers by 2 goals to 1. An inter platoon 5 a side league is at present in progress. At Xeros the local soccer team defeated a HQ Coy selection by 6 goals to 2.

● A return game of Rugby between the Group who now call themselves "The Raparees" and UNFICYP HQ is down for decision to-day (Wednesday).

● UNFICYP HQ and the 7th Inf Group face each other again to-morrow but in a different code

— Gaelic football. The HQ team, including the famous Frank Evers (Galway) and Sean Price (Laois), hope to put up a strong challenge. The issue will be decided on two games — aggregate scores to count. The first leg will be played at RAF Nicosia and the second at Xeros next week.

DANISH DISCOVERY MAY LINK RICHARD I WITH CYPRUS

IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED THAT THERE are no traces left in Cyprus from the conquest of the island by Richard I in the year 1191. However, an officer of the Danish Contingent has recently made a discovery which makes this statement more problematic. In Beirut, Lebanon he has found an English coin, possibly dated to Richard I, and which may have come to Lebanon via Cyprus with Richard and his men.

The coin is a silver penny. It is of the type known as the 'short-cross' coinage which was minted from 1180 and onwards bearing the name of Henry II and lasting throughout the next three reigns up to 1247 when a 'longcross' design was introduced. The coin has 'lombardic' lettering which was introduced in 1189. Therefore although it bears Henry's name it is more likely to be a coin from the reign of Richard.

Even if we do not accept this coin as a trace left by Richard I on his crusade, it does show that when the British took part in the crusades their money was accepted in this area. Medieval coins from Cologne, (Germany) Tours (France) and Valencia, (Spain) have also been found in Beirut.

DANISH CONTRIBUTION TO FORCE FINANCES

FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT of a letter dated 31 October received by the Secretary-General, U Thant, from the Permanent Representative of Denmark to the United Nations, Hans R. Tabor, regarding the expenses of the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus (UNFICYP):

"With reference to your letter dated 4th October, 1966, in which you appealed for voluntary contributions to provide the necessary financial support for the United Nations Peacekeeping Force in Cyprus, I have the honour to inform you that the Government of Denmark has decided to make a further contribution of $120,000, — to meet the costs of the period ending 26th December, 1966.

"As previously, the above-mentioned amount will be placed with a bank account in Denmark and offset against expenses paid by the Danish authorities in connection with the Danish contingent to UNFICYP."

NUCLEAR . from page one atomic weapons through Nato or otherwise.

During the debate other possibilities were mentioned as working against the treaty — notably the continued nuclear testing by Peking, which, in the view of members taking part in the debate, might bring on some of her neighbours an irresistible pressure to develop their own nuclear arsenals.

COUNCIL FAILS TO ADOPT SIX POWER RESOLUTION

THE SECURITY COUNCIL LAST WEEK failed to adopt, because of the negative vote of a permanent member of the Council, a six-Power draft resolution under which Syria would have been invited to "strengthen its measures for preventing incidents that constitute a violation of the General Armistice Agreement" with Israel.

The vote on the draft resolution was ten in favour to four against (Bulgaria, Jordan, Mali and the Soviet Union), with one abstention (China).

The Council President, Arthur J. Goldberg (United States), announced that the resolution had not been adopted, because of the negative vote of a permanent member of the Council (the Soviet Union).

Another draft resolution, submitted by the United Kingdom and the United States was not pressed to a vote.

Sponsors of the six-Power draft resolution were Argentina, Japan, the Netherlands, New Zealand, Nigeria and Uganda.

Under the terms of their proposal, the Council would have:

- Deplored the incidents which have been the subject of this debate, as well as the loss of human life and casualties caused by them;

- Invited the Government of Syria to strengthen its measures for preventing incidents that constitute a violation of the General Armistice Agreement;

- Invited the Government of Israel to co-operate fully with the Israel-Syria Mixed Armistice Commission;

- Called upon the Governments of Syria and Israel to facilitate the work of the United Nations Truce Supervision Organization's personnel in their tasks of observation and investigation on both sides of the Armistice Demarcation Line;

- Urged the Governments of Syria and Israel to refrain from any action that might increase the tension in the area; and

- Requested the Secretary-General to report to the Security Council as appropriate.

Before the vote, statements were made by the representatives of Bulgaria, Jordan and the Soviet Union.

After the vote, statements were made by the representatives of New Zealand, the United Kingdom, Israel, Syria, the United Arab Republic, France, Mali, Bulgaria and the United States.

UNDP PLEDGES MAY STILL FALL SHORT OF TARGET

THE UN DEVELOPMENT PROGRAMME (UNDP) has announced that as of last week, 101 Governments had pledged a total equivalent to 157,320,687 dollars for the 1967 operations of the UNDP.

This figure includes pledges announced at the annual Pledging Conference held on 6 October and those announced subsequently. Addressing

UNESCO's TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY

ON the occasion of its twentieth anniversary, the UN Secretary-General, U Thant, told the UN Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) that it has helped in achieving the great advances that have been made towards the goals — contained in the United Nations Charter — of "social progress and better standards of life in a large freedom".

As for the future, U Thant expressed the hope that UNESCO would supplement the efforts of the United Nations to contain and reduce the grave dangers to mankind that are inherent in the new weapons of mass destruction developed in the past 20 years through the very progress of science and technology.

The President of the UN General Assembly, Mr. Abdul Rahman Pazhwak, also sent a message of congratulations in which he said that in pursuing its aims over the past two decades UNESCO had stimulated a dialogue without which no true international understanding is possible.

NEW WORLD COURT JUDGES

LAST WEEK, THE UN GENERAL ASSEMBLY, meeting concurrently with the Security Council at UN Headquarters in New York, elected five judges to fill vacancies in the International Court of Justice.

The five new members of the World Court, elected independently both by the Assembly and the Council, are Fouad Ammoun (Lebanon), Cesar Bengzon (Philippines), Manfred Lachs (Poland), Charles D. Onyeama (Nigeria), and Sture Petren (Sweden). They were elected to nine-year terms beginning 5 February 1967.

the Conference, the Secretary-General, U Thant, had said that the target figure of 200 million dollars for 1967 "must be reached".

A number of Governments have not yet announced their contribution and, taking this into account, the UNDP estimated that total pledges for 1967 would ultimately amount to approximately 167.4 million dollars.
